

Creativity Pitch – Youth Unemployment

Youth unemployment is a big problem in many communities. A lot of young people want to work but don't get opportunities. Even though I'm only 15, I believe the skills I already have can help others learn, grow, and find chances to move forward.

1. I Know a Lot About Smartphones

I can teach other young people how to use apps for learning, job hunting, or starting small hustles.

2. I Can Put Up a Wire Fence

This hands-on skill can help with community projects or small jobs. I can also teach others how to do it.

3. Teamwork

I work well with others, which helps when doing group projects or starting community ideas.

4. Empathy

I understand people's feelings, so I can support other young people who are stressed about finding work.

5. I'm Great Around People

I connect easily with others and can bring people together to learn or try new opportunities.

Using these skills, I believe I can help other young people build confidence and discover new opportunities. Small skills can make a big difference when we work together.
